

LANCE CORPORAL WILLIAM KERSLEY

SERVICE NO. 14902

2ND BATTALION, THE HAMPSHIRE REGIMENT

|                |                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|----------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| DATE OF DEATH  | 12 October 1916 (aged 26)                                                                                                                                                             |
| BATTLE         | Near Gueudecourt after Battle of Le Transloy                                                                                                                                          |
| REGIMENT       | 1 st and 2 nd Battalion,The Hampshire Regiment                                                                                                              |
| DEATH          | Killed in action                                                                                                                                                                      |
| FAMILY DETAILS | Son of William, a Highways labourer, and Lucy Kersley of Up Street, North Warnborough. Married to Elizabeth, nee Hutchings. Daughters, Edith and Esther. Civilian occupation: Carter. |
| MEMORIAL       | Thiepval                                                                                                                                                                              |
| MEDALS         | 1915 StarBritish War MedalVictory Medal                                                                                                                                       |

